

Montana. - Dr. Charles H. Clapp, Director of the Montana Bureau of Mines and Metallurgy, 1918-21, and President of the University of Montana at Missoula since 1921, died May 9 after a lingering illness. As stated by our colleague, Francis A. Thomson, he "was one of the truly great geologists of western Montana and made more significant contributions to fundamental geology in Montana than any other man."